Editor's Note

The Names Have Changed

Earlier this year, fans received a sneak peek at the 100 Pokémon #152 to #251. The new monsters made their debut in the Japanese release of Game Boy's Pokémon Gold and Silver games. As copies of the Japanese games made their way to the United States, some lucky Pokémon fans got the rare chance to play them before the American version was released.

Now that English language Gold and Silver games have finally arrived, Pokémon fanatics are once again scurrying to their local toy and electronic stores in hopes of buying these long awaited gems. Since many of you have purchased the new games or plan to receive one as a holiday gift, you'll need to become familiar with who's who. You'll find that the challenge of finding and battling one of the new monsters is exciting!

Beginning on page 24, we've pictured all 251 monsters including the newest 100 and their English translations. Now is the time to start memorizing all of these names. Over the next several months there will be many new products featuring the newbies and our chart will help you to recognize them immediately.

In addition to featuring all of the new Pokémon names, we've also updated the names in our price guide. You'll notice that Togechikku #176 is now Togetic, Upaa #194 is now Wooper and Hassamu #212 is now Scizor. After you review the latest names, let us know which one is your favorite. The one you pick might appear on a future cover. If you'd like to win a complete set of Neo 2 Promos which include several of the new Pokémon, flip to page 67. Plus, there's a lot more excitement waiting for you inside this month's issue.

Enjoy,

AIR MAIL

TWO RARES

A while ago I purchased a Gym Heroes booster pack and found two Rares. I got a Holo Erika's Clefable and a non-Holo Sabrina's Venomoth. I know this was a mistake, but how often does this happen?

Cameron Rhone, age 12
Rochester, NY

After Pokémon cards are printed, they get placed on a mechanical assembly line. Sometimes an extra card gets thrown into the machine by mistake. This has occurred many times before. If you find a damaged card in your pack, you can write to Wizards of the Coast for an exchange. Their address is listed on every pack.

YADOKING OR SLOWKING?

In the June issue #10 I saw a new Pokémon called Yadoking. Later on in the September issue #13 I saw the same Pokémon with the name Slowking. What's up with that?

Oscar Ortiz Jr., age 12
Houston, TX

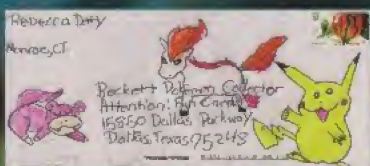

Before Pokémon: The Movie 2000 debuted in the United States; Pokémon #199 was called by its Japanese name, Yadoking. After the movie was released the new English name for this Pokémon was Slowking. You'll notice that since Gold and Silver Game Boy came out, there are many new names for Pokémon #152 to #251. You can read all of the new names beginning on page 24.

WHERE'S THE MASTER BALL?

I'm playing my Pokémon Game Boy game and I'm trying to find the Master Ball. Can you tell me where it's located?

Albert Rizzo
Richmond, CA

When you reach Saffron City look for the Silph Co. If you can defeat Giovanni's Nidorino, Rhyhorn, Kangaskhan and Nidoqueen you'll free the Silph Co. president. Once the president is freed, he will reward you with a Master Ball.

Rebecca Dotty, Monroe, CT

Vanessa Esparza, Chicago, IL

TOPPS GOLEM MISTAKE

I was looking at my Topps Pokémon Animation cards and found a mistake on card #76. It said Ash had not encountered a Golem yet. I then looked at my Charizard card and it said the first appearance was in "Attack of the Prehistoric Pokémon." I remembered that on the TV show the Bridge Bike Gang had a Golem and that "Attack of the Prehistoric Pokémon" was after the Bridge Bike Gang episode. I think it's a mistake and wanted to let your readers know about it.

Amy Smith
Parkersburg, WV

Thank you for letting us know about that, Amy. I wonder if some of our other readers caught that too.

FUTURE PROMOS

Do you know if new promotional Pokémon cards will be released in the future? Also, where should I look for them?

Tyler Lavalley, age 10
Haverhill, MA

Wizards of the Coast will be releasing several new Pokémon Promo cards in the next few months. They're usually given out at Pokémon League events, mall tours and as magazine inserts.

COLLECTING CHARIZARD

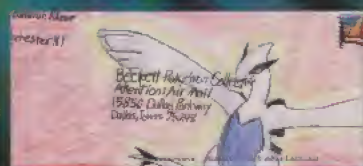

I'm trying to collect every Charizard card. Do you know if there's a Charizard in the new Gym Challenge set?

Monica Pastor
Via E-mail

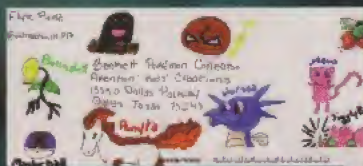

Yes! There's a holographic Blaine's Charizard in the new Pokémon Gym Challenge expansion set. He's card number 2. ★

JAPANESE CARD SPOILERS

YOUR TCG GUIDE TO NEO 2 PROMO TRANSLATION

Do you want the inside scoop on upcoming Pokémon gaming cards? We've developed this "spoiler list" so that you can play the TCG with Japanese cards. Your opponents will be left in a whirlwind wondering how you learned Japanese so quickly!

Here are a few new rules that have been added.

End of Turn:

Some cards have a reference to "End of Turn." After an attack, effects like Poison and Paralysis are checked.

Baby Pokémon:

When a Pokémon attacks a Baby Pokémon, they must flip a coin. If it's tails, the attack does nothing. Baby Pokémon can also evolve into Basic Pokémon.

Abbreviations for Energy cards are:

[C] Colorless, [E] Evil, [F] Fighting, [G] Grass, [L] Lightning, [P] Psychic, [R] Fire, [S] Steel, [W] Water.

The number in the brackets is the amount inflicted by the damage. If there's nothing in the brackets, the attack does no damage.

The New Adventures

Ash must defeat a Pokémon Master to enter the Orange Islands Tournament.

The third season of Pokémon starts off shortly after Ash's adventures in Pokémon: The Movie 2000. He, Misty and Tracy are still on the Orange Islands, but that won't be for much longer.

Interesting side note: This entire series was originally going to be called Pokémon: G.S., but has since been changed to Pokémon: Orange Islands and Pokémon: Johto Journeys. They began airing on Saturday, August 19.

By Steve Fritz

EPISODE TITLE: The Poke H2O War
EPISODE NUMBER: 301

After their adventures with Lugia, Ash and company use all their water Pokémon to save a small city from going up in flames. Even with their assistance it still looks like the town is about to go up in cinders when a group of organized Wartortles saves the day and puts out the fire.

Impressed by their trainer's ability to make a pack of independent Wartortles work together so well, Ash, Misty and Tracey join up as volunteer fire fighters to learn the techniques. It's a good thing they're there too because the Wartortles may be good at fighting fires, but Team Rocket is a whole other story.

EPISODE TITLE: Pokémon Food Fight EPISODE NUMBER: 302

When challenged by a big-mouthed trainer, Ash accidentally breaks the Pokéball that contains Snorlax. Now Snorlax can't go back into his ball.

If it isn't hard enough that Ash has to get the ball fixed, he also has to push the half-ton Snorlax with him wherever he goes. You can bet Team Rocket knows a golden opportunity when they see one.

EPISODE TITLE: Pokémon Double Trouble EPISODE NUMBER: 303

A woman named Luana mistakes Ash for her long-lost son. As it turns out, Luana is also a Pokémon master that Ash must defeat in order to get the last badge he needs to enter the Orange Island tournament.

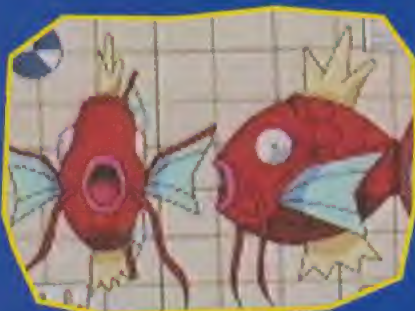

Luana accepts Ash's challenge. Then things readily go from bad to worse for our hero when not only does Team Rocket again show up to make a mess of things, but Ash's own Pokémon start fighting among themselves.

EPISODE TITLE: The Wacky Watcher
EPISODE NUMBER: 304

Ash volunteers for a research mission. Before he knows it he's in a submarine studying the Magikarp evolution. But something is terribly wrong. There isn't a Magikarp to be found anywhere.

Sure enough, Team Rocket is behind this nefarious scheme and it's up to Ash to figure a way to foil them before he's too late to enter the Orange Island tournament.

EPISODE TITLE: The Stun Spore Detour
EPISODE NUMBER: 305

When Ash does a bonehead move, he usually does a big one. This time he angers a Vileplume. The flower Pokémon responds with a dose of Sleep Powder that's so huge it also takes out Tracey and James in the process.

Now it's up to Misty to save the day. She has to find some very rare Water Weed in order to revive her friends. The only way she can do this is to capture a Poliwhg, who prefer Water Weed for food. Unfortunately, Jesse and Meowth are also out hunting for the Poliwhg, and they don't necessarily feel like sharing.

EPISODE TITLE: Hello Pummelo
EPISODE NUMBER: 306

Ash finally gets to the Orange League tournament. As he enters the island where the tournament is held, he finds he's being shadowed by a huge, foreboding creature he can never get a full view of. The creature is a Dragonite, the island's protector, and Ash has no idea what it wants from him.

When the tournament starts, Ash winds up going against the local champion, who handles six different dragon Pokémon. Ash does win the first two rounds, but when his opponent releases the mighty Gengar, the tables are turned against our hero. Could help be that far away or will Ash lose another championship? ✨

A Training Session with Pokémon Gym Heroes

By Steven Diamond

It's about time that some of the more popular Pokémon Trainers got credit for their achievements in training these beasts. With the Gym Heroes set, we get to take advantage of all the hard work that Brock, Misty, Erika and others have put into raising their Pokémon to be unique. The heroines and heroes of the Pokémon World are also represented with the new Stadium cards. Unlike a regular Trainer, a Stadium card remains in play once you've set it down on the table, until you or your opponent plays another Stadium card to replace it. No more than one Stadium card can be on the table at a time.

STRATEGY-MAKERS

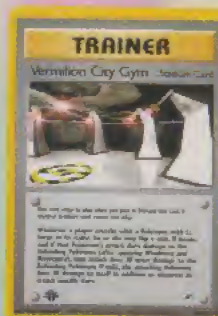

Stadium cards can turn the game to your advantage depending on what kind of deck you play. For example, Cerulean City Gym makes Misty's monsters more mobile. As long as it's on the table each player pays one Energy less to retreat any Pokémon with Misty in its name. Misty's Seadra, Misty's Seaking, and Misty's Staryu all suddenly become free-retreating Pokémon since their retreats usually require one Energy. Of course, your opponent also enjoys the same advantage if they happen to have Misty's Pokémon in their deck, but fair is fair.

Rocket's Training Gym has the opposite effect of Cerulean City Gym and applies to all Pokémon whatever their name may be. Each Player pays one Energy more to retreat their Active Pokémon. If you want to slow down your opponent's fast hit-and-run Pokémon like Scyther and Rapidash who usually enjoy free retreats, you should plan on including several Switches and ScoopUps in your deck if you want to keep your own Pokémon mobile. Or you might use Dodrio's Pokémon Power "Retreat Aid" to balance against the additional retreat costs imposed by Rocket's Training Gym.

Lt. Surge's Pokémon gain a small advantage in their attacks when you play Vermilion City

Gym. This Stadium card lets you flip a coin whenever a Lt. Surge's Pokémon attacks. If you get heads, it acts like a PlusPower adding 10 damage (if your attack causes any damage at all). However, if you flip tails the Active Pokémon takes 10 damage to itself, so it's a bit of a gamble. The good thing about Vermilion City Gym is that unlike a PlusPower you don't discard this Trainer after using it. The down side is if you happen to flip a lot of tails, you end up helping your opponent knock out some of your own Pokémon.

FINE-TUNING YOUR ATTACKS

While Vermilion City Gym works at increasing the damage of Lt. Surge's Pokémon attacks, the Trainer Charity has the opposite effect. Attaching Charity to your Active Pokémon allows you to reduce the damage done by its attack to any amount (rounded to the nearest 10). When you run up against the frustrating power of Mr. Mime's "Invisible Wall," a Charity lets you sneak in under that wall and eliminate the Mime menace, 10 damage at a time.

Efficient and helpful, Erika's Maids dash to your deck to fetch a couple of Basic or Evolution Pokémon with Erika in their name. Even better than good old Pokémon Traders in an Erika-theme deck, Erika's Maids trade any two cards from your hand for two of Erika's beasties. One nifty trick would be to use Energy Flow to remove a couple Energy cards from a Pokémon about to be knocked out, then use those cards in exchange for two of Erika's pocket monsters.

Erika's Perfume is another card that cries out for combo use. This Trainer allows you to look at your opponent's hand. If he or she has any Basic Pokémon you may send any number of them to their bench (as long as there's room). In combination with a Gust of Wind and the right Active Pokémon, you can guarantee a knock out. Let's say your fully-powered Movie Promo Mewtwo is stymied facing your opponent's Jigglypuff, and you happen to know your opponent Scooped Up a Ditto last turn. Play Erika's Perfume to force the Ditto back to the Bench, Gust of Wind Ditto to become the new Defending Pokémon, and Psyburn for 80 damage (since Ditto-as-Mewtwo is weak to Psychic attacks). Erika's Perfume brings you the sweet smell of victory!

CARD DRAWING ADVANTAGE

If you've ever wished you had a certain card back from your discard pile, Trash Exchange can help. This Trainer asks you to count the number of cards in your discard pile, and then shuffle your entire discard pile into your deck. Finally you discard the same number of cards from the top of your deck. What's the advantage? After sending that key card back to your deck, you might either draw it in the near future or Computer Search for it now. Of course, you do take a chance of discarding that key card once again during the discard process. It's a real gamble, but in a pinch it could win you a game.

I never thought I'd play Misty's Wrath until I actually tried it. The card asks you to look at the top seven cards of your deck, choose two to put in your hand, and discard the rest. What? Throw away five cards? Seems like a sure recipe for decking yourself! But in fact, when coupled with a few Nightly Garbage Runs to help return discards to your deck Misty's Wrath works well to cycle through your cards in a hurry. Compare Misty's Wrath to Professor Oak. The good Professor requires you discard your entire hand to draw seven new cards. But what if you already have the right Trainer or Pokémon in your hand, but are just lacking a key Energy or other Trainer? Misty's Wrath allows you to keep those key cards in your hand while drawing enough from your deck to come up with the winner. It's risky in terms of decking, but if used in place of Professor Oak once or twice in a game, it might make you a believer.

After enjoying the esteemed company of Bill and Professor Oak for over a year, it's great to have the opportunity of getting to know some of the other Heroic Trainers of the Pokémon World! ★

CARDS FOR KIDS

Beckett Pokémon Collector,
Topps & Ronald McDonald House team up to bring you Cards for Kids.

Gift giving and the joys of the holiday season will soon be upon us.

Unfortunately, some children must spend the holidays in hospitals or extended care facilities.

The Beckett Pokémon Collector staff would like to put a smile on the faces of these children. With your help, we can make this a happier holiday for many young patients.

We are proud to announce our Beckett Annual Cards For Kids program. Last year our readers sent in over 25,000 cards and made the hundreds of hospitalized and less fortunate kids think of Pokémon instead of their problems and illnesses. If you have a few extra Pichus or a handful of Squirtles, put your duplicates in the hands of those less fortunate. All Pokémon cards received will be distributed to children in selected Ronald McDonald Houses across the country. Plus, for every child who receives a holiday gift bag filled with Pokémon cards and a copy of Beckett Pokémon Collector, the Topps Company has donated an unopened pack of their popular Pokémon trading cards.

Here's how to participate in the Cards For Kids program:

First, please get your parents' permission. Then select the Pokémon cards you would like to donate from your collection. Place the cards in an envelope or box and mail them to us at the address below. We must receive all envelopes by November 27, 2000.

We will make gift bags to hold all of the donated cards along with an unopened pack of Topps Pokémon cards and a copy of Beckett Pokémon Collector and deliver them to selected Ronald McDonald Houses in time for the December holidays.

What a great way to send holiday greetings to a kid who really needs it. Thank you for all your help!

POKEMON PROMO CARDS

Promo cards are Pokemon cards that do not come in packs. For example, the Ancient Mew was only sold at the Movie Theatres in Japan. These are tough to get. You will find that the Pokemon promo cards have the potential to become very valuable. We sold the Happy Birthday Pikachu card for $40 a year ago. Now it's selling for over 10 times that. A 1000% increase is much better than the stock market annual returns. No guarantee of price increases but we can say that these are hard to find. Lower supply means higher prices!!!

Parent's Corner - Helpful Hints for Pokemon Parents!

1. Hologram/Foil cards are the most popular Pokemon cards. They are randomly placed in packs with the exception of Japanese Series #2-7 which have a hologram in every pack. People spend lots of money to find these cards in packs. In the long run, you can save money by buying the specific cards that your children want. We sell all these single cards. Many customers have thanked us for this service.
2. Theme Decks are great presents. These 60 card Decks include the Holographic cards that the children want. Reasonable priced gifts.
3. Booster Packs are very popular. Kids love the excitement of opening them. The most excited I ever saw a child was when he opened one of our packs and got a holographic Charizard. Talk about excited!!!
4. Each English set has 2 versions; 1st Edition and Unlimited. 1st Edition cards have a "1st Edition" stamp at the lower left corner of the character picture right near the card border. "Unlimited" issue cards have no stamp. 1st edition cards are more expensive. We advise that you buy "Unlimited" issue cards. The children can play the game the same with them and they are more affordable.

The Secrets of Evolution

The Christmas Colors of Gym Heroes Pokémon

With Christmas nearly here, the traditional Yuletide colors of green and red are everywhere. Green and Red also happen to be two of my favorite colors of Pokémon - so here are some Grass and Fire Gym Heroes Pokémon to fire up the true spirit of a Pokémon Christmas!

ROCKET'S SCYTHER

One of the all-time Big Basic Pokémon is Scyther of the Jungle set. While the new cool Rocket's Scyther won't replace its Jungle cousin entirely, Gym Heroes' mantis monster does offer a few fresh tricks. Shadow Images, its first attack, is a good defensive move forcing your opponent to flip a coin and get heads to cause any damage to Scyther. With only 60HP, Rocket's Scyther needs Shadow Images to stall while you build up enough Energies for its Blinding Scythe attack worth 40 damage. That's an improvement over Jungle Scyther's 30 damage Slash. Don't forget that since the original Scyther is named differently from Rocket's Scyther, they count as different Pokémon when building your deck.

ROCKET'S MOLTRES

Like the Phoenix of Egyptian mythology, Rocket's Moltres can arise from the flames of defeat to fly again. Its Pokémon Power "Rebirth" says, "When Rocket's Moltres is Knocked Out, you may return it to your hand after discarding it." Your opponent gets a Prize, but you get your Flame Pokémon back. Rebirth can help out in Fire decks looking to run fewer Pokémon and more essential Fire Energies. Moltres' Fire Wall attack is Energy efficient (40 damage for three Fire Energies) and offers a lingering effect. If an attack does damage to Moltres during your opponent's next turn, Fire Wall sends 10 damage back at your opponent's Active Pokémon, an excellent free counterattack.

ERIKA'S ODDISH, GLOOM & VILEPLUME

The lovely Pokémon Trainer Erika shares a wide range of her Grass Pokémon, including two different Erika's Oddish, two Erika's Gloom, and Erika's Vileplume. Erika's Oddish at level 12 has only 40 HP, making it just too easy to knock out. Even its "Photosynthesis" Pokémon Power (which allows you to convert any attached Energy to Grass) fails to make it a worthy addition to your team. Erika's Oddish at level 15 is better, with 50 HP and two good attacks. Its Blot attack does 10 damage plus allows you to remove one damage counter from your green weed. Sporadic Sponging, its second attack, does 20 damage and lets you remove a damage if you flip heads on a coin toss. Not terrific, but a decent enough Basic Pokémon to send out and evolve to Erika's Gloom.

Erika's Gloom (level 24) with 60 HP also provides a damage-control attack called Healing Pollen. This attack does no damage to your opponent's Pokémon but allows you to remove 4 damage counters if you flip heads on a coin toss. Magic Pollen, its second attack, requires three Grass Energies but does 30 damage and again lets you flip a coin. If heads the Defending Pokémon is either Asleep, Confused, Paralyzed or Poisoned - your choice. Although Erika's Gloom at level 28 increases to 70HP, its attacks are pretty uninspiring. Dream Dance does only 10 damage and leaves both Gloom and the defending Pokémon Asleep! Its 2nd attack, Vile Smell, has a similar drawback. After doing 30 damage both the attacking and Defending Pokémon are Confused. This variety of Erika's Weed Pokémon needs pulling.

Erika's pet plants eventually grow up to be the Flower Pokémon called Erika's Vileplume with a respectable 80 HP. This green beastie has a good status-effect Pokémon Power, Pollen Defense. It says: if an attack does damage to Erika's Vileplume while it's your Active Pokémon, flip a coin - if heads, the attacking Pokémon is Confused. Its only attack, Mega Drain, is also pretty good - for three Grass Energies Vileplume does 30 damage and you get to remove a number of damage counters equal to half the damage done to the defending Pokémon (rounded up to the nearest 10). For instance, if Erika's Vileplume does 30 damage to the Defending Pokémon you can remove 20 damage from Erika's 'Plume. A decent 2-for-1 attack that will drain the effect of your opponent's attacks.

BLAINE'S CHARMANDER, CHARMELEON & CHARIZARD

Fire Pokémon specialist Blaine offers some well-trained Pokémon, too. Blaine's Charmander has a Kindle attack for 10 damage that requires you to discard one attached Energy but also allows you to choose an Energy card attached to the defending Pokémon and discard it as well. This should keep your opponent's Energy level low while your little lizard chews away at their HP. Char's second attack, Slash, does 20 damage for two Energies of any type. However, with the Base set Charmander you don't need to discard any Energy. Keep an eye out for Blaine's Charmeleon and Blaine's Charizard to appear in the next Pokémon TCG expansion called Gym Challenge. Blaine's little Charmander has something to look forward to.

THE FIRE POKÉMON OF BROCK & BLAINE

Other Fire Pokémon of the Gym Heroes set such as the two Blaine's Growlithes and Brock's Vulpix, also hold promising futures. Each of these will achieve their next evolutions among the Gym Challenge cards. Both Blaine's Growlithes have 50HP, but the level 17 Blaine's Growlithe is a better attack puppy. For a single Energy of any color, Shake attack does 10 damage and makes your opponent switch his Defending Pokémon with one from his Bench (just like Pidgey's Whirlwind attack). Fire Tackle, its second attack, does 30 damage but also causes 10 damage to Growlithe. However, the real reason to keep these lil' pups around is their future evolution into Blaine's Arcanine which has an attack worth 120 damage!

Brock's Vulpix can also hold its own while awaiting its evolution. Its first attack, Flame, does 20 damage for a single Fire Energy. It also sports the familiar Quick Attack doing 10+ damage for two Energy of any color. Like other Gym Heroes Basics, Brock's Vulpix has a terrific evolution in store. Brock's Ninetails will provide a unique Pokémon Power letting you place any evolution card in your hand atop this Fox Pokémon once per turn. This is one Fire Fox you won't want to miss.

POWER OF DRAGON BALL Z

THE DRAGONBALL Z CHRONICLES

(PART 2)

Summarizing the many adventures of Dragon Ball Z

Last month we summarized the first four sagas: Saiyan Saga (episodes #1-26), Namek Saga (episodes #27-53), Frieza Saga (episodes #54-92) and Garlic Jr. Saga (#93-102). That's only half the information you need to fully appreciate the series. The Sagas are broken down into individual half-hour episodes that can range from 10 to 40 half-hours.

Space and time doesn't permit us to cover all DBZ Sagas. So, here's a follow-up to last month's Saga reviews. If you enjoy reading about Dragon Ball Z, write us here and let us know you're interested. Also, tell us who your favorite character is and why.

By Steve Fritz

ANDROID SAGA (TRUNKS SAGA)

Number of Episodes: Unknown

This is the first of the new sagas acquired by Cartoon Network. Jason DeMarco, producer of the Toonami block of programming that includes Dragon Ball Z, is very pleased to air this saga because it introduces us to another major character in the DBZ universe, Trunks.

"Trunks has become the most popular character in Dragon Ball Z after Goku," says DeMarco. "Even though he's never been seen on American television until now, we have more drawings of him and requests for his stuff than anything else. In fact, half of the Dragon Ball Z merchandise has Trunks all over it."

Demarco also reminds us that Trunks is the son of Vegeta and Bulma. He comes back in time from the future to warn Goku and the heroes that there's going to be a virus that wipes everybody out. They have to come up with an antidote before the virus hits.

The virus was created by Frieza, his father King Cold, and their Android army as a way to devastate the Earth and make it easier to conquer the planet.

"So Trunks is kind of doing the Terminator thing, going back in time to save the future," says DeMarco.

CELL SAGA

Number of Episodes: (Unknown)

Trunks isn't the only fighter who travels back in time to change history. Another time traveler from the future is Cell, who is out to help the Androids and kill Trunks for a second time.

After fighting to a draw with Piccolo, Cell goes after the surviving Androids. Like Piccolo, Cell can merge with other forms. The big difference is Piccolo can only merge with fellow Namekians while Cell can do it with anything.

It all breaks down to a match between Cell and Gohan. What Gohan doesn't know though is Cell carries a self-destruct mechanism in him that's so powerful it will take the entire Earth with him. It will all end with one major fatality that even the Dragon balls can't bring back.

BUU SAGA

Number of Episodes: (Unknown)

A new menace, called the Doubler, makes a grand entrance by turning Krillin and Piccolo into stone statues. Then, the Doubler creates a new, even more evil form of Vegeta called Majin Vegeta and turns him loose on Goku.

That isn't all the Z Warriors have to worry about though. Another villain, Badibee, is out to resurrect the extremely chaotic Fat Buu. Fat Buu is so powerful he easily defeats Goku. So it comes down to Bulma again out trying to gather the Dragon ball in time. This time though, the entire universe is at stake.

NOTE:

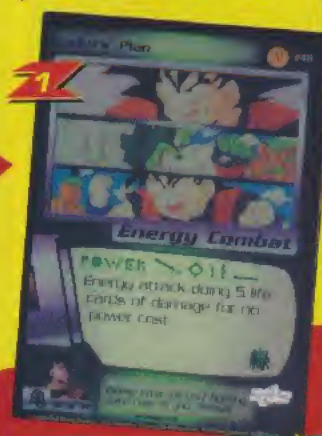

As any fan of the show can surmise, these are only short synopses of each Saga. There's a lot more going on than meets the eye. You'll just have to watch the series and see for yourself.*
